2020 SPEAKERS

ANGELINA POGOSIAN

Tacoma Community College's Student Body President, Angee Pogosian, is the daughter of Armenian immigrants and a passionate advocate for our community. Angee enrolled to TCC in the fall of 2017 looking for new beginnings. The faculties' guidance and community engagement opportunities were pivotal in confronting her poor academic history and mental health barriers. Through improving her grades and getting involved in the Office of Student Engagement, Angee channelled her passion by lobbying for college affordability and mental health support, allocating TCC's multi-million dollar budget, and organizing civic engagement programs for students. As chair of the Student Senate, Angee amplified student voices in campus issues, while also representing students on policy and administrative hiring committees.

Angee graduates from TCC in Spring 2020, and plans to complete her Bachelor's in Sociology at The University of Washington. She ultimately plans to attend law school, expand her cosmetic business, and continue serving her community.

ANDREW CHO

Dr. Andrew Cho is currently a sociology professor at Tacoma Community College and has been working in higher education since 1994. Known by some on campus as the "Triple OG", Dr. Cho is also the chair of the TCC Anthropology, Political Science, and Sociology programs. Most recently, he co-authored a chapter with Professor Pang Men focused on the challenges facing Southeast Asian American professors that was published in Racial Battle Fatigue in Faculty: Perspectives and Lessons in Higher Education. He has also written a book chapter titled "Not in My Hood: Identity, Crime, and Policing in Seattle's International District" appearing in Asian/Americans, Education, and Crime. In addition, Dr. Cho wrote an article on "Slavery Reparations" that was published in the Encyclopedia of Race and Ethnic Relations. At TCC, he has been awarded the prestigious "Bob Thaden Faculty Excellence Award" several times and was previously recognized by the Black Student Union as the "Most Inspirational Faculty."

He is the proud owner of six rescue dogs and around 500 pairs of Jordan sneakers. His wife Kaidie is a regular speaker in some of his sociology classes, discussing her family's harrowing escape from Vietnam. His favorite leisure activity is hanging out with his six-year old son Darwin.
